

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS IN XMAS WHISKEY HORROR

CONGRESS TO PROBE AWARD OF MEDALS TO NAVAL OFFICERS BY SECTY DANIELS

Joint Resolution to That Effect Will Be Introduced Very Soon.

ADMIRAL MAYO ALSO CRITICISES METHOD

However, He Did Not Follow Example of Sims and Return the Trophy.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The award of war medals and crosses to navy officers by Secretary of the Navy Daniels is to be investigated by a joint committee of the senate and house naval affairs committee, it was announced today.

Plans for this investigation were practically completed at a conference of Senator Poindexter and Representative Lufkin, of Mass., who have announced that they will introduce joint resolutions calling for such an investigation. The investigation is to begin as soon as congress reconvenes on January 5.

Every recommendation or suggestion for honors for naval men will be referred to the naval award board when it is reconvened, Secretary Daniels said. He stated that he hoped he would be able to leave the matter of awards entirely in the hands of the board.

Admiral Mayo has written a letter protesting against the manner of granting awards, Secretary Daniels disclosed, although he did not refuse to accept the medal which was awarded him.

The secretary refused to comment on reported differences between Admiral Sims and Admiral Wilson. He stated that he had appointed both men and that they had both done excellent service.

The following officers of the navy and marine corps comprise the navy board of awards: Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, line; Rear Admiral M. T. Endicott, civil engineer; Rear Admiral C. J. Badger, line; Rear Admiral Dewitt Coffman, line; Capt. J. H. Linnard, constructor; Capt. B. H. Cribou, chaplain; Capt. John T. Boyd, medical corps; Capt. M. C. McDonald, supply corps; Col. P. St. Claire Murphy, marine corps; Lieut. Commander Jukes, recorder.

ALABAMA PROBE OF ROADS IS PLANNED

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION TO HOLD HEARINGS AT COUNTY SITES.

(International News Service.) MONTGOMERY, Dec. 27.—In order to get first-hand information on conditions of railroads in Alabama before they go back to private owners, the Alabama Public Service commission will visit each county site in the state where they will receive complaints against the utilities. The commission is planning to go thoroughly into railroad matters, because it is expected the railroads will ask for increases in rates and shippers are said to be anxious to get the rates nearer the pre-war basis.

Four Locals Refuse to Call Strike Off

(International News Service.) CLEVELAND, Dec. 27.—Four locals involved in the steel strike, with a membership of nearly 5,000, refused last night to consider ending the strike. The two leaders who urged a termination of the strike were ousted from the union.

Christmas Feed Given Prisoners

Prisoners in the Morgan county jail did not fail to receive a share of Christmas cheer. Sheriff J. V. May served those confined with a bountiful repast and gave each prisoner a quantity of fruit, in addition to the regular "feed."

NEW REGISTRAR TO HOLD SESSION HERE AT THE COURTHOUSE

Claude Gilchrist, of Somerville, newly appointed registrar for Morgan county, will sit at the courthouse the first five days in January to register voters from all over the county, it was announced by Probate Judge Troup today following a conference with Mr. Gilchrist late Friday.

Mr. Gilchrist also told Judge Troup that he would make every effort to hold sessions all over the county. It is not expected, however, that he will be able to cover every community within the time allotted by law and citizens desiring to register today were urged to take advantage of the initial session, if possible. Citizens are permitted to register here, provided they designate the precinct from which they are registering.

The announcement by Mr. Gilchrist definitely clears up the tangled registration situation in Morgan county, which followed the resignation of A. G. Wilhite and the failure of the state officials to name a successor. Preceding the consolidation election, Mr. Wilhite consented to serve temporarily in order to register new voters in Albany and Decatur.

TALLANT RESIGNS PASTORATE LOCAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. J. B. Tallant, Sunday night, will occupy his pulpit for the last time as pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur and on December 31 this able minister's connection with the church which he has served so faithfully and so successfully for the last 15 months will terminate. Dr. Tallant stated that for two weeks he had held under advisement a call from the Rossville Baptist church of Chattanooga, to become their pastor after January 1, 1920, but had not decided to accept it until yesterday. It was learned that the congregation which Dr. Tallant will serve numbers about five hundred, and that at the present time the membership has under construction a new church building, which when completed will cost from $30,000 to $35,000.

Since coming here more than a year ago, Dr. Tallant has been prominently identified with every movement looking to the general up lift. The membership of his church has increased at a gratifying rate and all lines of endeavor in the church have received a new impetus. In no year, with perhaps the exception of the year in which the present modern church building was erected, has the First Baptist church of Decatur contributed such large sums to evangelistic and foreign mission work. All its financial obligations have been met, without solicitation, save for the regular yearly every-member canvass.

In the South-wide $75,000,000 drive of the Baptists, Dr. Tallant's church oversubscribed its quota 75 per cent. Of a forceful and rugged type as a preacher and fearless but constructive, Dr. Tallant's sermons will be missed by his hearers, and the many whom he has served in a personal way will sincerely regret his departure.

AVERAGE COST COAL PRODUCTION IN THE UNITED STATES IS $1.60 TON

Dr. Garfield's Figures Show That in Alabama Cost Was Only $1.48 Per Ton

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Costs of producing coal in each of the 98 bituminous districts of the United States during the first year of the existence of the federal fuel administration, the period when the expenses of mine operation reached the highest point because of war conditions, is contained in the report of the engineering committee of the fuel administration, made public here today.

The figures on the cost of operation were used by Dr. Garfield in find-

UNION SUPPLY CO. BEGINS BUSINESS EARLY NEXT YEAR

The Union Supply Company, Inc., Albany's latest mercantile establishment, has perfected its organization and will open for business early in the new year in the Princess theatre block, it was announced today. As the building is not completed, the new firm will probably not begin doing business before January 15, although its official existence will date from January 1.

P. C. Goforth, secretary.

The new store building is an unusually handsome one, and is now being completed by B. L. Malone.

Four Generations Holesapple Family Gathered at Xmas

J. C. Holesapple, of Sheffield, is the Christmas guest of his son, J. C. Holesapple Jr., of Fifth avenue West, Albany. On Christmas day a unique dinner party gathered at the festal board of Mr. Holesapple, in that four representatives of four generations of the Holesapple family were present.

The four generation representatives were: J. C. Holesapple, the great grand father, J. C. Holesapple Jr., the grand father, William Bailey Moles, the grand son and his mother, Mrs. Elmer M. Moles. Mr. Holesapple Sr., while well past the scriptural allotment of "three score years," is hale and hearty and to all appearances bids fair to stand at the head of yet another generation of his kith and kin before he is gathered to his fathers.

ALABAMA VOTERS WILL DECIDE FATE TWO AMENDMENTS ON NEXT MONDAY

Provisions for Tax Raise and Poll Exemptions Are at Stake.

ELECTION OFFICERS ARE APPOINTED IN MORGAN

Vote is Expected to be Very Light All Over the State

Voters of Alabama will decide the fate of two proposed constitutional amendments Monday when they cast their ballots in the first "Christmas Week election" in recent history of the state. Two amendments, one providing machinery for an election on tax increases in 42 cities and another exempting ex-service men from the payment of poll taxes until 1923 are at stake.

Officials for the election have been appointed in Morgan county and the stage is set for balloting, which is expected to be exceedingly light here.

The vote over the state is not expected to be heavy, except in those communities affected by the proposed tax rate increase. Neither amendment is backed by a strong campaign. An organization backing the amendment has made some effort to interest the voters, but the Christmas rush has overshadowed the elections. The ex-service men have not waged an active campaign in behalf of their amendment, apparently being willing to trust the voters to pass the measure.

There is little certainty, however, that either one of the amendments will carry as in many sections of the state there is a pronounced opposition to changes in the constitution.

No city in Morgan county is affected by the tax amendment and many voters have announced their intention of voting only on the ex-service men's message, leaving the settlement of the former to the communities affected by it.

The latter amendment will provide relief for many men formerly wearing the uniform, whose polls were not paid for them while they were away.

Under the existing statutes many ex-soldiers, sailors and marines are disqualified because of the non-payment of the tax and in order to become qualified voters again, they must pay their polls for the time they were in the service, unless the constitution is changed by the will of the electors Monday.

The following municipalities may, by a vote, increase their tax rate, if the tax amendment passes:

Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Ingleside, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill and LaFayette.

D'ANNUNZIO IS ARRESTED AT ZARA

ACCORDING TO DISPATCH PRINTED IN THE TRIBUNA, AT ROME.

(International News Service.) LONDON, Dec. 27.—The whereabouts and present activities of Gabriele D'Annunzio, who stirred all Europe by seizing Fiume, have assumed the proportions of a great international mystery.

The latest reports, contained in a dispatch from Rome, quoting the Tribuna, instead of throwing light upon the situation only deepened the mystery. D'Annunzio was reported to have left Fiume on an English steamship, and later the correspondent at Zara telegraphed that he had landed there and had been arrested, apparently by the Jugo-Slavs.

66 PERSONS DEAD FROM DRINKING WOOD ALCOHOL

Scores of Others Suffer Terrible Agonies and Many Will be Totally Blind

(International News Service.)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 27.—The death toll in the Christmas whiskey horrors had mounted to 66 this afternoon. Scores of others made blind and plunged into great agony by a deadly concoction of wood alcohol were reported dying in hospitals and in private homes. Authorities investigating the sale and distribution of the fake whiskey said that indications were that there had been a country-wide sale of the bogus beverage. Many deaths will follow before the warning can be spread, they feared. The cities known to be affected by the poisoned beverage, which was sent out of New York are: Chicopee 36 dead; Hartford, Conn., 13 dead; Holyoke, 7 dead; Springfield, 3 dead; Chicago, 4 dead; Pittsburg, 2 dead; New York, 1 dead. A cure that will save the lives of those stricken was found today by Dr. George Gagne, of Chicopee. Dr. Gagne adopted the old method of using leeches to take poisoned blood from the veins of his patients.

(International News Service.)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 27.—

Forty-five persons, including women, are dead today in western New England, as the result of drinking fake whiskey believed to have been made of wood alcohol, colored with burnt sugar and flavored with extract of rye. Scores of others are in hospitals in horrible agony, blindness being the worst features of the cases. The victims died terrible deaths, most of them becoming paralyzed.

With the death toll mounting hourly, the police and revenue authorities of Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York were making frantic efforts to warn those who have the deadly fluid in their possession. The sale of the murderous concoction has been traced to New York City, and several arrests have been made in Chicago and Springfield.

NEW PROBE ORDERED

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The appalling increase in deaths from wood alcohol stirred the municipal and federal authorities into a brand new investigation today, in an effort to stamp out the illegal traffic. Between Dec. 1 and Dec. 20, between 15 and 20 persons are known to have died in this city from drinking wood alcohol and the medical authorities believe that many more died from the same cause but that the cases were not properly diagnosed.

FIFTEEN AT CLEVELAND

(International News Service.)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27.—Fifteen

cases of wood alcohol poisoning in the past 36 hours have been reported to the police today. All are in hospitals in a serious condition. Fourteen deaths have been reported within the past month from this cause.

MYSTERY SMOKER TO BE HELD AT 'Y'

According to announcement of Y. M. C. A. workers, a "Mystery Entertainment and Smoker" will be given in the Association lobby Monday night, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The membership and general public has been cordially invited.

It was stated that one of the principal objects of the meeting will be to afford an opportunity for all the local railroad men, both those of the shops and the transportation department, to meet the newly appointed General Secretary W. C. Nolleau. One of the mysteries of the evening which "leaked out" was that a number of minstrel actors, either imported or native grown will hold the boards during a part of the evening. Other treats and real attractions were also hinted at. Withal, it is assured, that the time of their lives is to be had for all who can attend the Monday night smoker.

A general good time, "when the night shall be full of music and the cares which infest the day shall fold their tents as the Arabs and as silently steal away," as one of the promoters expressed it, is what is going to happen at the "Y" Monday night. "No excuses for non-attendance will be accepted," was the final word of warning to any who are wavering as to whether they will be there.

FLORENCE DEPUTY DIES AT HOSPITAL RESULT OF WOUNDS

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at Florence for Deputy Sheriff Carl Anderson, who died early Friday from pistol wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Tom Stephenson, who is held in the Morgan county jail here.

The shooting occurred near Florence on the Huntsville pike Sunday night when Anderson, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Mitchell and his father, Sheriff Mitchell, attempted to arrest Stephenson on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. Deputy Mitchell is said to have suffered a narrow escape, a bullet passing through his hat.

RETAIL CLERKS WILL ENTERTAIN LOCAL MERCHANTS

The Retail Clerks' Union No. 330, will entertain merchants holding union cards at an oyster supper to be given in the Colonial building, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday night, it was announced today by Charles Arnold, President.

ROBINSON ENTERS RACE FOR COLLECTOR

POPULAR CITIZEN THROWS HIS HAT INTO RING, ADDING INTEREST TO RACE.

The race for tax collector of Morgan county, a grand free-for-all in which several prominent citizens are entered, picked up in interest today when Jack A. Robinson, of Albany route 3, shed his fedora into the ring. Mr. Robinson is widely and popularly known throughout the county, having served for four years as a member of the county commissioner's court and at present being president of the jury commission. He is recognized as a strong candidate, and his friends predict that he will come first under the wire.

The tax collector's race promises to be the most spirited in the recent history of the county, owing to the prominence, popularity and activity of the numerous aspirants for the office.

Marshal Foch is Not a Candidate

(International News Service.) PARIS, Dec. 27.—Marshal Foch has declined to become a candidate for the French senate, it was announced today.

THE PLUMB PLAN OF RAILROAD CONTROL WILL BECOME AN ISSUE IN ELECTIONS

Unions Are Preparing to Go Before Country and Battle For Cause

REPUBLICAN CONGRESS MUST SHOULDER BLAME

Only Individual Democratic Congressmen Will Be Held to Accountability.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—With the final word said by the president on the return of the railroads, the railroad unions are preparing to make the Plumb plan one of the big issues of the 1920 election.

Glenn F. Plumb, author of the plan and also general counsel for the railway brotherhoods, refused today to discuss the possible political effect of the President's proclamation on organized labor, but said: "The principles of the Plumb plan will be the leading issue in the 1920 election. They are bound to be. The solution of the railroad problem affects every man and woman in the country. If congress passes legislation that protects railway securities at the expense of the public, the rebound will sweep away the chances of the republican party in the 1920 campaign. The democratic party will not be responsible. The democratic congressmen who vote with the republican majority will be held responsible as individuals."

PAPERS IN CALDWELL CASE ARE RECEIVED BY HIGHEST COURT

(International News Service.)

MONTGOMERY, Dec. 27.—Papers in the Edgar Caldwell case have been received by the United States Supreme court, according to notice received by Attorney General J. Q. Smith today. Caldwell, negro army sergeant, is under death sentence in Alabama for murder of Cecil Linton, street car conductor of Anniston, about 18 months ago. His attorneys claim that a civil court has no jurisdiction and that military authorities at Camp McClellan had no authority to turn him over to a civil court and that he did not get a fair trial.

The state's legal department will be represented when the case comes up for argument in the U. S. supreme court. The case has attracted nation wide interest. Chicago negroes are said to be putting up money for Caldwell's defense in the court. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, of the United States, has filed briefs in the case alleging the civil courts did not give the negro sergeant a fair trial.

MONDAY'S ELECTION;VOTE FOR OTHERS

So far as the voters of Morgan county are concerned, when they go to the polls Monday they will have but one duty to discharge—to vote for others. They themselves will not be affected, financially, to the extent of a single red cent.

There are two amendments to the state constitution to be accepted or rejected. One of these provides that former service men—soldiers, sailors and marines—who went out to battle for Alabama, for their firesides, for liberty and for the preservation of democracy, shall be exempted from the payment of poll tax until 1923. The other provides that 42 specific municipalities, none of which are in Morgan county, shall be allowed to spend their own money in their own way, which is democratic, progressive and right.

The Daily trusts that those electors of this county who are prone to cast negative votes on all propositions: either through prejudice or through an overwhelming leaning towards the doctrine of "safety first," will in this instance establish a precedent by supporting these two amendments, which are entirely for the good of others. It would be a reflection upon the patriotism of the county for the amendment in the interest of the ex-service men to be defeated. It would be unfortunate for the county to antagonize 42 municipalities merely for the sake of being perverse.

THE NEWS PRINT SITUATION
WAITS ON WATER POWER

The supply of paper on which newspapers are printed, called in the trade "news print," is approaching exhaustion, with no relief in sight. In 1910 consumption of news print was "fifty-fifty" with its production, but from that time until the present, production in this country has been steadily falling behind consumption. It was only by the importation of large supplies from Canada, that the newspapers for years were enabled to get out their big editions. Between 1910 and 1918 there was a 2000 per cent increase in the importations of news print from Canada. The annual consumption of news print in the U. S. is about 2 million tons, and 750,000 tons of this comes from Canada. Most of the domestic tonnage comes from the paper mills of New York state, and these mills have only enough timber standing to last them at most for a period of ten years. Estimates are that in 20 years all the timber available for wood pulp on the eastern side of the country will be exhausted entirely. The great North-West must be looked to for the future supply of news print. In our Rocky Mountain regions and in Alaska, it is estimated that we have in the neighborhood of 244,000,000,000 board feet of wood pulp timber, more than half of this amount being in the forest reserve. In order to make this vast supply available, in order to make it practicable for this timber to be manufactured into paper, it is pointed out by authorities on the subject, that the vast water power of the North-West must be harnessed and electric power generated. This undeveloped water power is said to total more than 50,000,000 horse power. When the timber of the North-West and the water power of that section begin to play into each other's hands, the days of shortage in news print will be numbered, according to best authorities, but not till then. A movement has been launched to have congress take up its long deferred program for developing the water power of the North-West at an early date. By a vote favorable to the use of this great reserve power, Congress can within a short while, not only relieve famine conditions in the news print industry, but open the way for untold expansion in all lines of industry.

BIRMINGHAM PRICES TOP THE ENTIRE LIST

Birmingham, the commercial capital of the state of Alabama, has won an unenviable distinction. It is officially credited by the United States Department of Labor, bureau of statistics, with being able to show a greater proportionate increase in the cost of living than any of the fifty other American cities that were used as a basis of comparison. Even Mobile, where during the past month the average family expenditure for food increased 7 per cent, a record in itself, must give second place to the Magic City when a longer period of time is taken into consideration. From 1913 to 1919, a period of six years, the cost of living in Birmingham increased 104 per cent, and no other metropolis can show better than 102 per cent.

The figures available apply only to the cost of food. It is unfortunate that they do not also show Birmingham's correct class as a high-priced clothing center. Residents of the Twin Cities who sometimes show a fondness for shopping there might get an eye-opener as to just how much they have been paying out that they could have saved by trading at home.

PARLOR BOLSHEVISTS
NEXT ON THE PROGRAM

The benevolence of the federal government, which has already tendered free transportation to a cargo of active undesirables, is to be turned to the parlor bolshevists, as those fastidiously are called who either through mischievous inclination, love of notoriety or a craving for excitement have given financial and perhaps moral support to the cause of the reds. The Christmas day demonstration in New York, which afforded a stage for the display of several varieties of crank professing a holy and high regard for "freedom of speech," served to draw attention afresh to these miscreants, and also afforded the secret service an opportunity to secure additional names and addresses for its files.

The parlor type of anarchist, while not held in the same repugnance as the bomb thrower and torch wielder, is in reality a greater menace to the nation. Brainy criminals, as a rule, are not. Brainy criminals, as a rule, are careful about exposing their persons to danger, and always select some understudy of inferior mentality and perhaps superior physique to execute the plots that they hatch up. These parlor bolshevists do this very thing. Some of them, gifted along literary lines, dedicate their pens to the writing of propaganda, while others give their money for the spread of dangerous doctrines. The long-haired, the thick-skulled, the unthinking and the unskipped are depended on for the back-alley work.

In order to cure such of the national ills as come from too much radicalism, the federal authorities must reach the source of the contagion. This source is those higher circles peopled by men and women of diseased imaginations who have time and money for playing at anything that will drive away the terrors of ennui.

Voice of the People

Mr. Editor:

It is a well known fact that our inefficient public servants receive their full share of cursing; but there is probably no general realization of the fact that the efficient ones get much less than their share of blessing.

This is doubtless due to the fact that curses, rather than blessings, are indigenous to the soil of our unregenerated human nature. Since a positive public benefaction deserves public acknowledgment; and since probably none else will do it, am volunteering to express the appreciation of the patrons of the Decatur postoffice for the commendable and unexampled generosity and diligence of our local postoffice authorities at all times in general, and during the past holiday season in particular. This accommodating spirit is shown all the way from the big boss himself clear down to the polite senegambian who drives the parcel-post buggy. Indeed, if there is a more accommodating "bunch" in any postoffice anywhere in the world their pictures ought to be "struck" and exhibited on every screen in movieland.

Just think of it—the entire post-office—money order department, parcel post department, stamp window, and general delivery—running wide open all night long for a whole week before Christmas. And, mind you, not by virtue of orders from Washington, but on the sole initiative of Postmaster Crawford, backed up by the enthusiastic endorsement and cooperation of his entire force. Talk about the Christmas spirit, what do you thing of that? There may be other cities in the United States that can match that, but this department has never heard of them.

And not only was the office kept open twenty-four hours a day, but, for the further convenience of the public, a sub-station for the handling of parcel-post matter was opened up across the street.

And yet some of the patrons of the post office don't know these facts. And some who have lived here, all their lives don't know the postoffice personnel. Ladies and gentlemen, permit me to introduce them.

This is Mr.:

William E. Crawford, Postmaster, big hearted, big bodied, always with a word of hearty salutation for everybody, never seeming to be very busy, but, as the directing head of the Decatur post office, keeping everything moving "according to Hoyle" from A. to Z.

Mr. B. O. Sims, Assistant Postmaster, money-order clerk, and general factotum, tall, slender, as straight as an Indian, courteous, efficient, every gentleman's friend, he and duty twin brothers.

Mr. A. P. Johnson, low-voiced, soft-spoken, deserves no credit for being a gentleman because, being born so, he couldn't help himself.

Wm. H. Yarbrough, one of the tall sons of Amak, bluff and hearty, all wool and a yard wide, with a heart as big as the general delivery window. Mr. J. C. Conley, the efficient night-clerk, a man with less hair and more religion than the average man; a man whose religion is not of the "when-in-Rome do as the Romans do" type, but of the kind that is fast-color and warranted not to fade in any climate.

Mr. Ralph White, the handsome ex-soldier, who helped our boys in France to make Uncle Sam's postal service the wonder of the French and of the world.

Mr. William Moseley, Jr., assistant night-clerk, industrious, polite, and accommodating. A chip off the old block.

And let us not forget Murphy Kimble, the Chesterfield in ebony, who brings around our parcel post packages.

Saving the best for the last. This is Mrs. William E. Crawford, not on the payroll but often "on the job," helping out the overworked force, and singing almost any part in the post-office symphony. One of the beauties of Decatur, she smiles and the world smiles with her. If she ever weeps she keeps it to herself. Without her brightening presence the post-office precincts would be like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out.

Attractive picture? I should say so; but pray excuse the picture. It doesn't do justice to the original; as the photographer would say, "the light's not good today." But, good or bad, the man that can go in our postoffice and have any dealings with any one there and not come out feeling that it is indeed a fine morning, either got up on the wrong side of the bed, or ate soggy biscuits for breakfast, or is preoccupied and troubled with hepatic or domestic or financial infelicities.

So here's my toast and we will drink it not in sparkling champagne from the sunny hillsides of La Belle, France; not in "red-eye," from the gin mills of Bourbon county, Kentucky; not in "white lightning," from the lair of the Morgan county tiger; but in aqua pura, from the classic Tennessee.

To the Decatur postoffice force—the "whitest," ablest, most courteous, most accommodating set in the United States!

J. FLOYD COLLINS.

BACK TO ALADDIN!

"Insistent, incessant, these modern demands, I believe I shall try to decamp, I want to go back to Aladdin," said the weary old Slave of the Lamp.

"I made them all coffee for breakfast, I browned toast after slice, I coddled the eggs (hens' not rocs' eggs, but still eggs of fabulous price), I sucked all the dust from the carpets, I polished the brass till it gleams, I ran the machine for Miss Susie, the while she was sewing her seams; I washed a tub full of silk nothings, and ironed them while they were damp, All menial tasks for a Genius like me," said the weary old Slave of the Lamp.

"I heated the water and towels for my lady to have her shampoo. I treated her scalp, and I patiently fanned till her hair was all dry through and through. I warmed and massaged her old grandpa, who fancies he's getting the gout, I played a full hour for the young folks to dance, I lighted the house, in and out, Now I want to go back to Aladdin, a lazy and lovable scamp; The leisurely East, not the strenuous West, is my choice," said the Slave of the Lamp.

LAWHORN WELL

A marriage of wide interest, was that of Miss Myrtle Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howell to Mr. James F. Lawhorn, that was solemnized Dec. 23rd at the South Side Baptist church, the Rev. E. C. Walker officiating. For the event the church altar was banked with ferns and an arch erected before the pulpit over which clambered Southern smilax; from the center depended a large white wedding bell, beneath this the couple pledged themselves. The wedding music was given by Mrs. C. E. Walker and Miss Ruth Sharpe, and to the strains of Mendelssohn the Maids of honor, Miss Or Della Wilder and Miss Amber Howell, sister of the bride, advanced to the altar. The maids wore Taupe suits and black picture hats and carried Killarneys. Then came the groomsmen, Messrs. Gravett, Thompson, Howell and Westery. All preceding the bride and groom down the aisle. The bride was a charming picture in her traveling suit of Taupe Tricotine, with this she wore a large picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of brides roses. During the ceremony Miss Sharpe softly sung "When We are together." Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn left immediately for a nuptial trip. On their return they will be at home in Albany.

A GIFT TO THE NEEDY

Christmas eve the proprietor of one of our popular Greek restaurants went to the chairman of the Home Service—Mrs. Vera Austell, and with that look born of sincerity, handed her a roll of 50 crisp one dollar bills, saying: "I have been so prosperous in past year, I want to lend a hand to the needy of the community," and returned to his place of business. Hardly any of us (tithing our earnings, as some of us believe the scriptures command us to do. If we did there would have to be very few demands on the general public.

Mrs. E. G. Lambert entertained at a Christmas dining on Thursday at six o'clock. The table was decked with Christmas blossoms, at which covers for seven were laid. Mrs. Lambert was assisted by Mesdames N. Stevens and J. I. Toon. The afternoon was spent at the matinee at the Masonic theatre.

Misses Josephine Kerr and Nell Neel, Texas students of Maryville, Tennessee college, are visiting Major and Mrs. T. J. Williamson during the Christmas holidays. Miss Kerr is a niece of Mrs. Williamson.

Miss Alma Puckett and Horace Puckett, of Tishomingo, Miss., are the guests of their uncle, G. W. Puckett, at Fairview.

Nothing Gained by Losing Temper.

What's the use of losing our tempers over trifles? There's never one solitary bit of good resultant. Of course annoying things will happen. Of course the temptation will come if we're normal people—and most of us are. But the losing of temper doesn't help matters a bit. It incapacitates us for right action, even when the losing seems excusable. An angry person who cannot govern self is not apt to wisely strive to better conditions, at least until the fit of anger is over.—Chicago Daily News

The Horse in Scripture.

Sacred story has not forgotten the horse. There we are told of the "pale horse whose name is Death," the horse to whose "strength" we are not to "trust," the "horsemen and chariots" of Pharaoh, with thousands of others too numerous to mention. In the pages of the Scriptures alone the horse occupies a goodly place.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it!
